

Storyteller Notice and Release

Welcome, Storyteller, to The Working Chronicles community! The Working Chronicles is a broad-based interview project. Your interview is being conducted for inclusion in a work intended for publication via blog, website, book or other medium (collectively, the "Work"). The Work has the working title:

The Working Chronicles: Personal Stories of America at Work

This interview will be recorded. The person conducting the interview (the "Chronicler") will write an edited and abridged account of the recording. The Chronicler may later ask you clarifying or follow-up questions. You may request to review the draft or final account before it is published. While writers and reporters often do not obtain a written release for an interview, we want to be clear about our intent and ensure that you are comfortable with the process. If you have any questions or concerns that cannot be addressed by the Chronicler, please contact the Managing Editor, Molly Rosen at mollyr@workingchronicles.com.

1. Consent: I consent to the recording of my statements (the "Interview") and hereby grant to the Chronicler and TWC Productions, LLC ("TWC") the right to use, edit, revise, print and publish all or a portion of the Interview in audio, visual, text or any other format (collectively the "Contribution") as may be edited, condensed, adapted, abridged or translated in all forms and all media, including advertising, promotion and all commercial uses throughout the world, in perpetuity and to allow the Chronicler and TWC to sublicense or otherwise all others to exercise any of the above rights. Unless I specify otherwise below, I grant the right to use my image and name in connection with all uses of the Contribution. I acknowledge that my consent and grant of rights herein is given in order for the Contribution to be considered for inclusion in the Work and that the possibility of inclusion is valuable and adequate consideration for the consent and grant of rights herein and that I waive any claim to any compensation arising from the Contribution.

2. Release: I hereby release the Chronicler and TWC from any claims that may arise regarding the use, editing or publication of the Interview or Work including any claims of libel, defamation, invasion of privacy, or infringement of moral rights, rights of publicity or copyright. I acknowledge that I have no ownership rights in the Interview, Contribution or Work. TWC is not obligated to include the Contribution, in whole or part, in the Work.

3. Review: I understand that I have the right to review a copy of the Contribution before it is published, but to do so, I must notify TWC via email at mollyr@workingchronicles.com within 14 days of the Interview. I understand that the Chronicler will consider my comments or requests in good faith but the Chronicler retains editorial discretion as to whether and how to edit the Contribution. Except as provided for herein, I waive the right to inspect or approve use of my Interview as part of the Work.

I have read and understood this agreement and I am over the age of 18. This agreement is governed by the laws of the State of California, excluding its provisions governing the conflicts of laws. This Agreement contains the complete understanding of the parties with respect to the Interview and the Work.
